Structure

The Post-Graduation in Migration Law aims to provide participants with knowledge on migrations - an international and complex phenomenon that requires a multidisciplinary approach with a heavy legal component.

The program aims to provide professionals with knowledge on the different and complex legal frameworks that regulate immigration (workers, business owners, highly qualified workers, investors, students, researchers, family reunification, cultural agents, transfer of workers within company groups, special regimes for specific categories), asylum and international protection, as well as different legal status, thus providing them with the skills to act more consistently and accurately on this matter.
